When I look at the below paintings, I feel the range of potential emotions. Whether the fear of time slipping away, or the tragedy of loss, or even the cynicism of war. It's truly amazing. Most importantly though, they change my perspective and give me a wake up call.

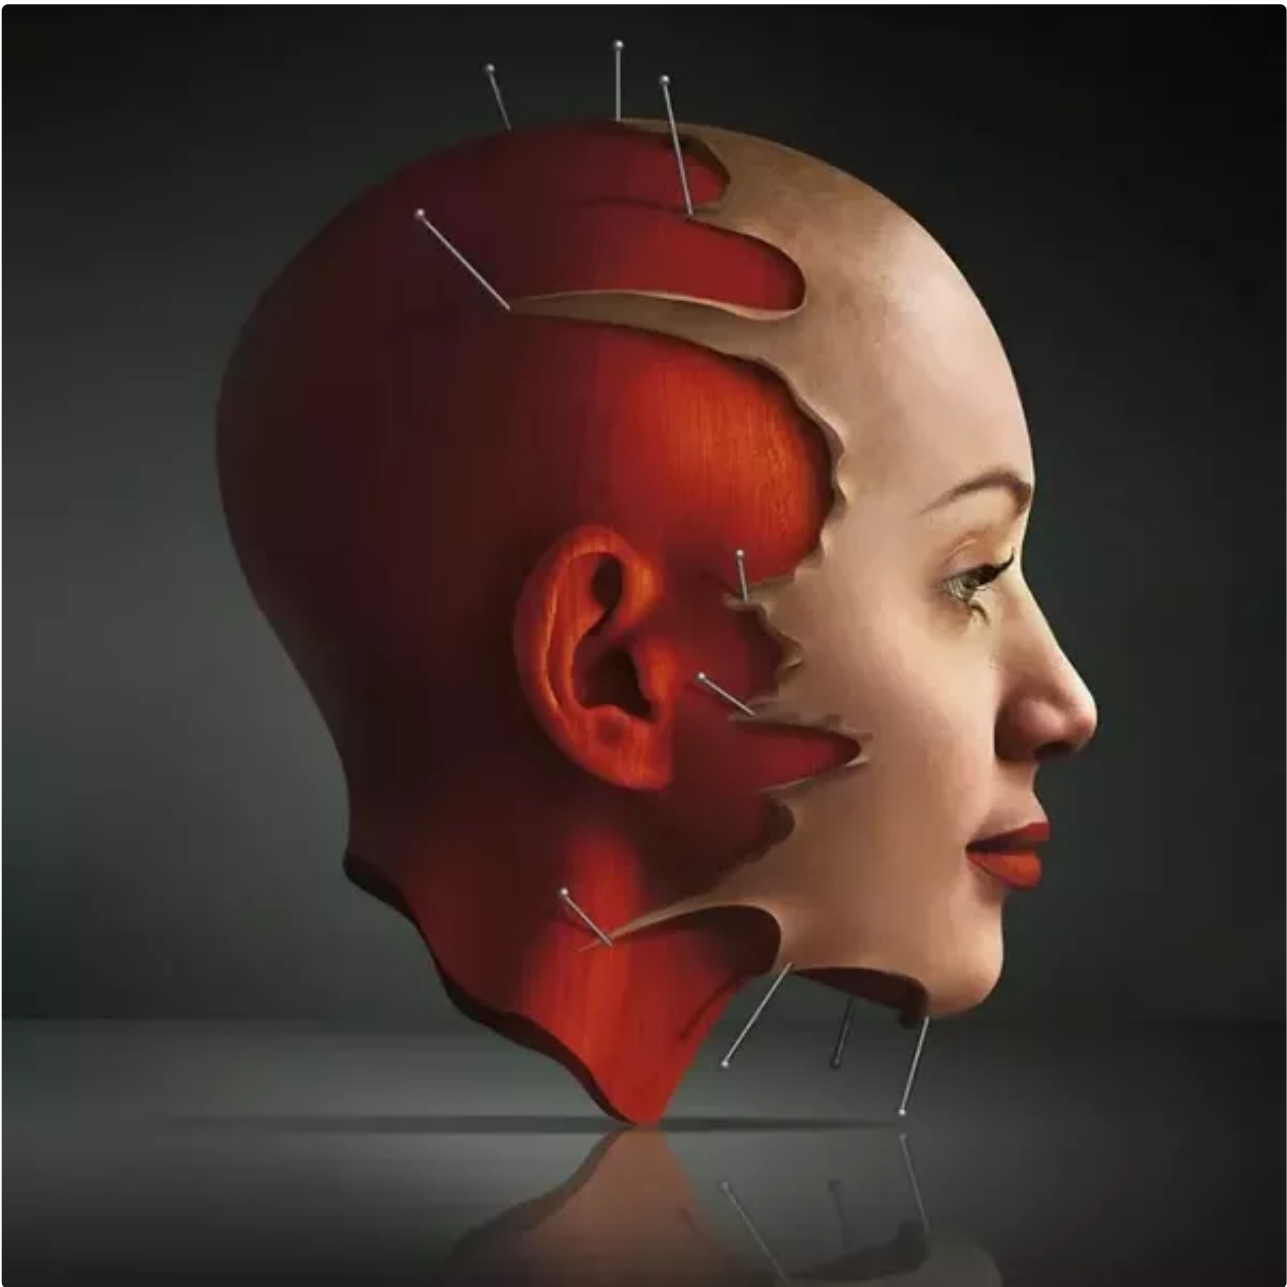

Self imposed prison of addiction

We can evolve and change, but our future is literally either going to be flooded or filled with pollution

The masks we wear

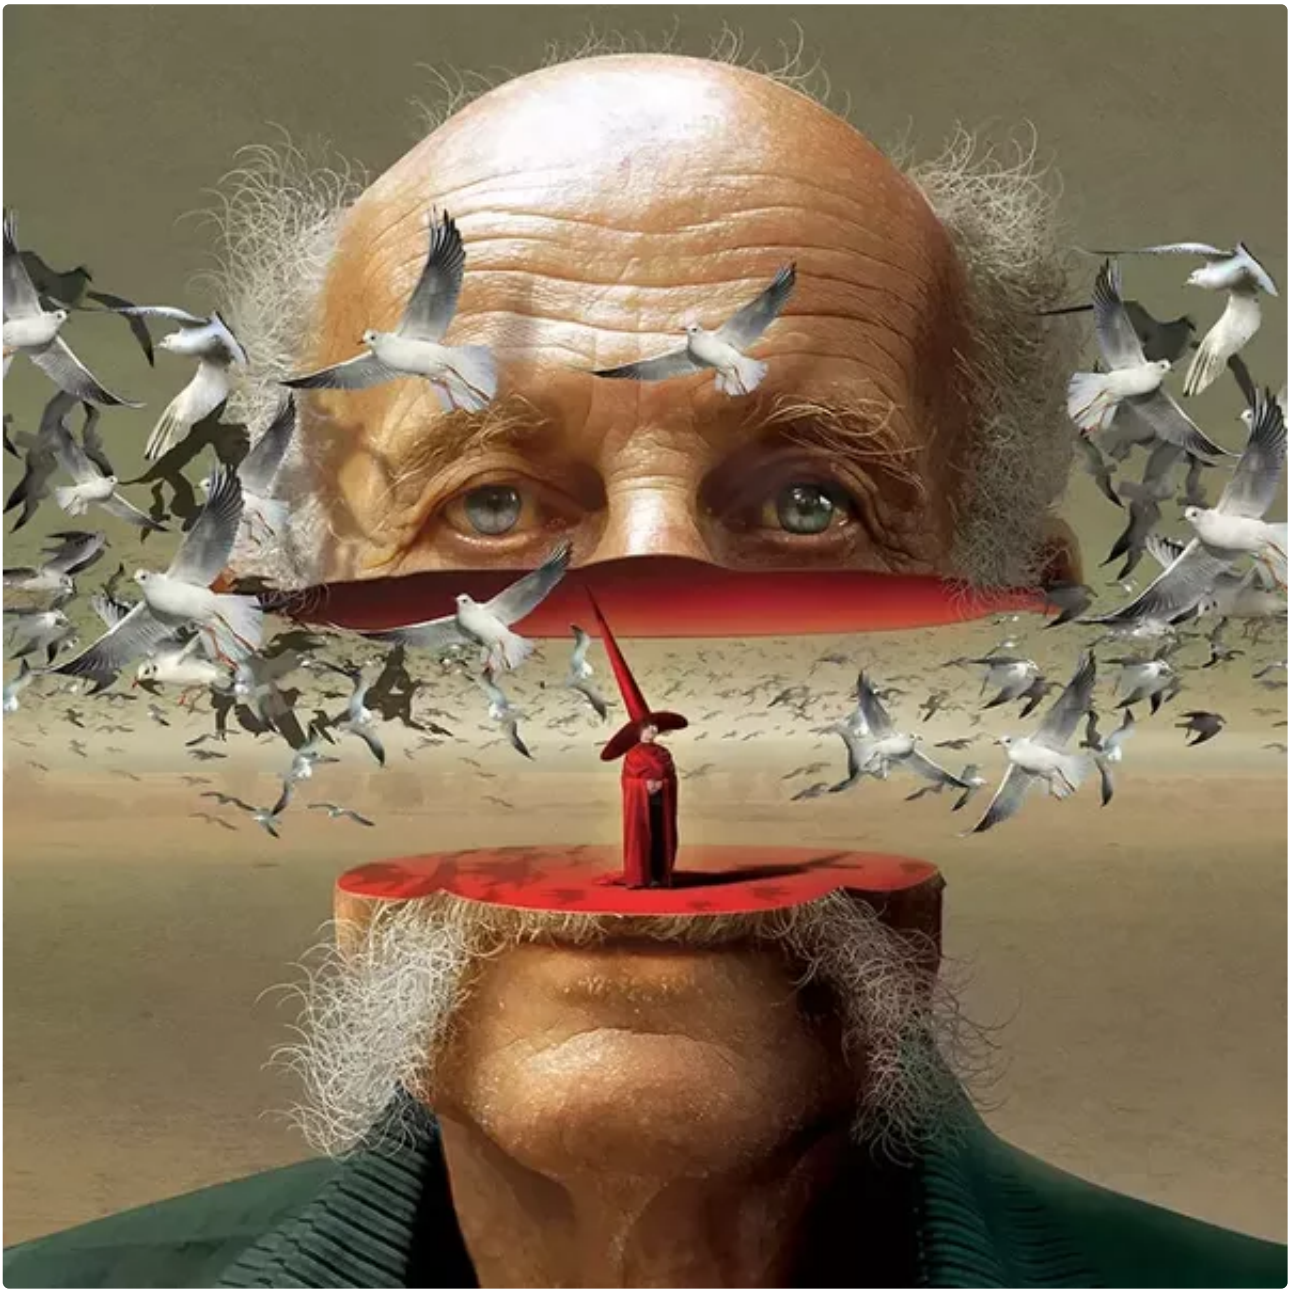

Despite how important a thing is, there is always a limit of having it, too much of anything is a bad idea.

No matter how big your nest egg is, it still won't be big enough to build a stairway to heaven.

Magic is what happens inside each one of us

We are made of Earth. When we die we will return to the earth. But, in the meantime, life is a beautiful dance.

Big fish in a little pond; america isn't as great as it thinks it is without the cooperation/water of the rest of the world.

Nature is stronger than what people build

The distorted reality and transformation of matter to symbolize reality in dreams

The mind is influenced by its environment

Only in nature can you grow

Under the cloak of aging lies beauty and wisdom

Love sends us to the moon easily, the hard part is to stay on it.

Brainwashed

Thinking is what makes you fly. You're gonna crash if you ever stop.

I believe that the circle with the man "trapped" inside is the routine we have each day. But only the human. The birds appear to be free at all times...and the difference between them is just...sad

Living inside boxes - we've created for ourselves. Everyone has the same space, each one uses it differently.

Freedom during evolution progresses to a mere symbol of liberty.

The plague of surveillance. or

Instead of exploring the vast universe, which is depicted by the beautiful moon, we are busy spying on each other.

Everything has it's pros and cons, however, together they can do wonders.

Hi there,

I was very much waiting to answer this question for some months.

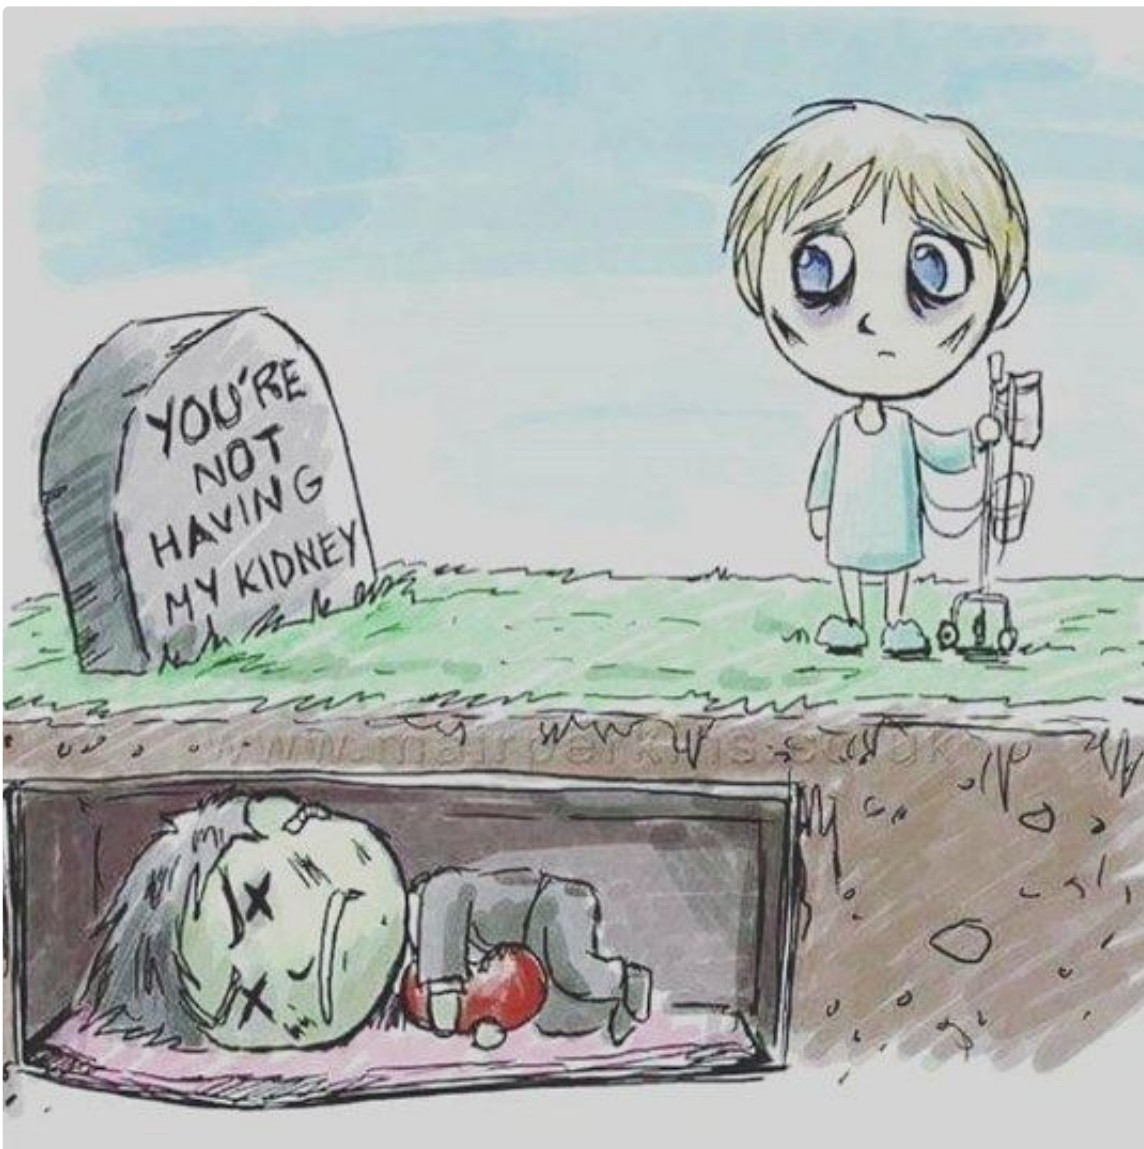

Tried hard.

Collected few.

Wish to share them now.

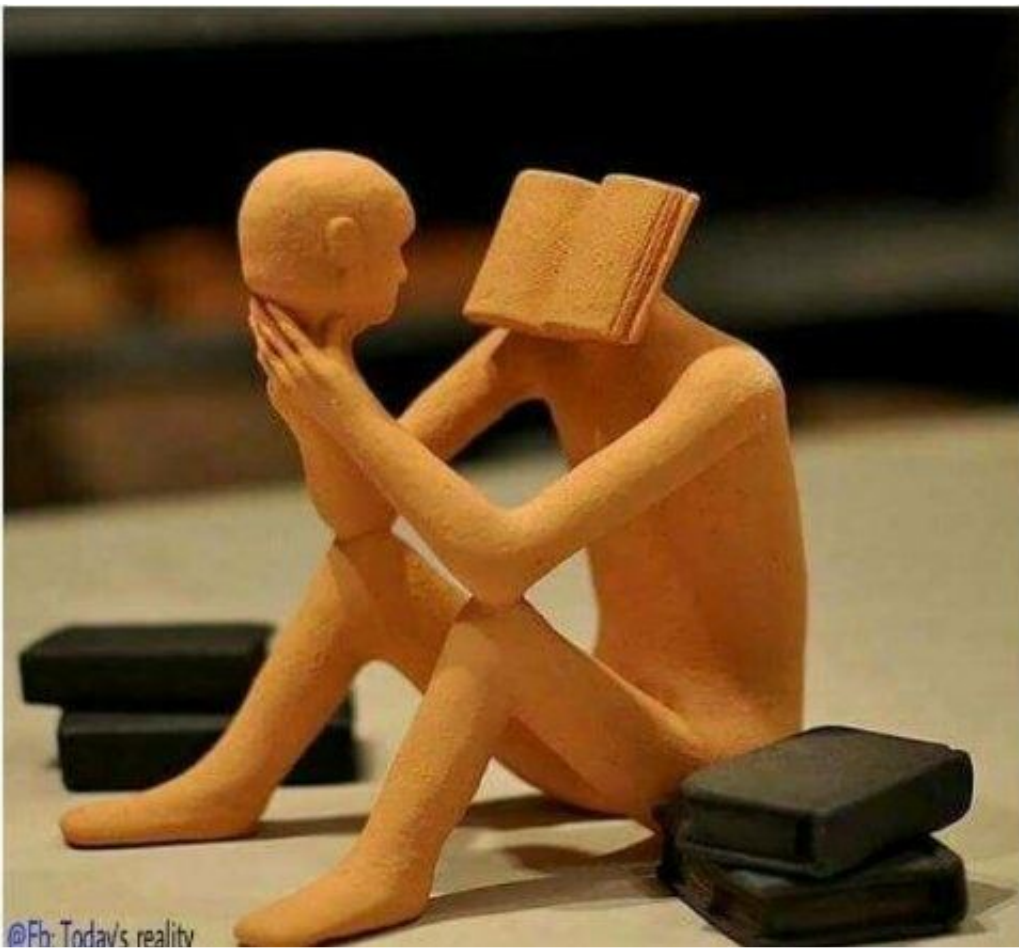

Note : The last one is my new favourite.

- Encouraging organ donation.

Note : In the image, kidney in specific.

- Know yourself before you judge others.

- What people do most of the time.

- Do not trust anyone. Everyone out there is somehow fake.

- Life is not money. Do not run for money, instead run for happiness.

Note : Check for the hair of the old man. He has already got his bald head running for money!

- Love your parents no matter what. There are people who does not even have the opportunity to show it.

 Still have a question? Ask your own!

What is your question?

- Respect the men who are sacrificing their lives for giving us peaceful life everyday.

- Always block the energy drainers

- The loss the technology is causing to the libraries.

- The most dangerous thing in the world, a fake friend.

- Appreciate what you have. There are people who are praying for things, you take for granted.

- You may know me, but you have no idea WHO I AM. Do not underestimate others.

- Love has no age.

- We are all the same.

Last one from my collection and my personal favourite, what I believe in..

- No one can make you happy except YOU.

Screenshotted every single one of them.

Created a collection named “Quora” in my Instagram profile.

Tried really hard I must say :P

Well, that is okay!

After all, hard work is essential before clicking the “submit” button on Quora.

Cheers!

I would encourage some suggestions as quotations for the same.

Edit 1 : Found another interesting picture just today, here it goes,

- How people choose a long and easy way to success leaving behind the shortest way with difficulties.

Edit 2 :

- No one knows when the last Good bye is...
- Live happy at the moment, give a smile whenever possible.

- Drive safe

Edit 3 :

- Saddest truth. Please let the trees grow along with us.

Thank you :)

March 13th, 1881. The Assassination of Tsar Alexander II brings chaos and disorder to Russia. The civil liberties and reformist movement he had once spearheaded in Russia came tearing apart at the seams.

A realist artist who was living at the time, Ilya Repin, described the environment in Russia over the weeks, months and years that followed:

“My emotions were overwhelmed by the horrors of contemporary life. ... Terrible scenes were in everybody’s mind, but no one dared paint them ... It was natural to look for a way out of this painful and tragic situation through history”.

But the artist did not look away. Instead, Repin chose to reflect on what had happened by looking back into the bloody and haunting past of his beloved yet benighted country.

One event in particular grasped his attention.

Exactly 300 years prior to the murder of Alexander II, Tsar Ivan IV Vasilyevich- known in English as Ivan the Terrible due to his vicious temperament- murdered his son in a blind act of rage.

It was said to have started when Ivan physically assaulted his pregnant daughter-in-law over her allegedly distasteful choice of clothing. His son, Ivan, ran to the defense of his dearest wife, but it was already too late. She subsequently suffered a miscarriage.

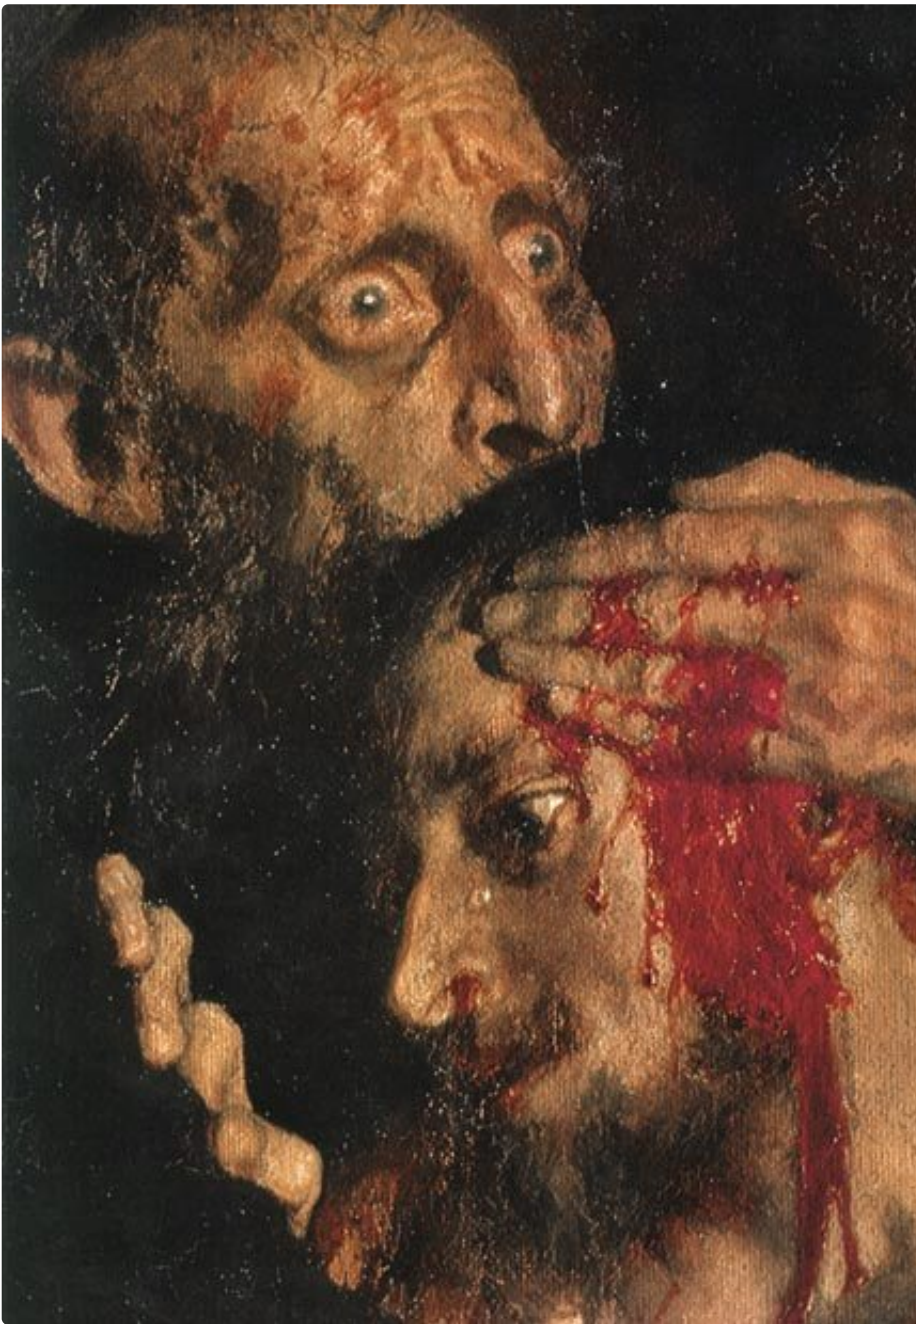

Ivan's son, distraught and enraged over the careless act of cruelty that had been committed, confronted his father, and the argument soon expanded as the son began to criticize Ivan's political policies. Ivan, full of unmitigated rage, struck his own son with a scepter.

The younger Ivan fell to the ground, slipping into darkness as copious amounts of blood gushed from his head. His father dropped to his knees, cradled his son and cried "May I be damned! I've killed my son! I've killed my son!"

It is this moment that Repin captures with some of the most disturbing yet potent artistry ever seen on the planet.

I've always been haunted by this painting, from the day that I came across it. It's his eyes that do it. Filled with regret and sheer terror, they lament the senseless violence, and it is hard to imagine the trauma that Ivan endured following his cold blooded act of murder.

Those eyes

I'm astounded at how Repin was able to capture the regret so perfectly.

I am sorry if this picture is repeated. There are 100+ answers. So, please excuse me.

Spotted her? Not yet?

This photo was taken at the premiere of the movie Black Mass in Boston on September 15, 2015. While everyone was taking photos of the big names on the screen and Johnny Depp, this old lady was seen enjoying and “living the moment”.

One can easily recognise nearly 20 smartphones in this crowd, stretching and bending, struggling to take a photo...sorry, apparently a super-blurry photo/video. We fail to realise that god gifted us with an Ultra-HD 4K camera...our eyes and seemingly infinite amount of storage.....our brain. Yet we go on to use our phones.

Okay, you might get a super close photo with your favourite star. So what?

You aren't the only one. You're among that million but she is one of a kind. She is feeling and enjoying the aura of excitement and surprise and happiness and a myriad of several other happy feelings that surround her. Her face glows with that joy.

Look at her face. Her happiness speaks it all.....

Here are the pictures that I found for everyone on the internet that have some very deep meanings-

(Before scrolling down to the bottom and seeing their meaning please first try to identify their meanings)

And now their meanings:-

1. This shows that how technology and social media will affect humans. You can see in the picture that everyone is glued to their smartphones like fevicol. Even the tan on their bodies is in the shape that they are holding their phones in their hands. I know it was pretty awious but I had to tell.

2. Revenge by the animals.(lol, that's why I am a vegetarian). In this the rhinoceros has cut the nose of humans, as usually the situation is vice-versa. It says us to stop cutting all the animals and to stop torturing them.
 3. This photo shows us the condition of students these days. All the adults are constantly forcing their children to keep studying which is destroying their life.
 4. Media, One of the worst word and thing ever created. None of the news channels ever show unbiased reports and are always corrupt. Even the killer is shown as the victim in the media and the victim has been turned into a killer. Poor soul.
 5. Marginalisation, or should I say, a form of it. A rich child is restricting an untouchable or a poor child from even cleaning his toy car as he thinks he might in turn make him dirty. This is what we are fixing in the minds of our children now-a-days.

I'll soon be adding more of these photos based on the response and please feel free to comment, upvote and follow me if you liked my answer or have any query.

If this is not your wake-up Call against usage of Plastic , after few decades , Plastic is going to take our lives as well .

Where does the river flow end? At sea, this very right answer is also justified when finally in the sea found many piles of plastic waste mounting.

When many people are on vacation to the beach, where does their trash end? Of course still scattered on the beach. It becomes a nightmare for Albatross type eagles. 22 species of albatrosses in the world reportedly 17 species are declared extinct. What happened? The pile of garbage that is scattered and blended with the sea, can not be distinguished anymore when these animals feel hungry.

Even found a dead sea eagle when split was in the neck and stomach filled with plastic waste. This fact is very worrying. Even many animals that do not contaminate the environment also become victims.

On a remote island like Midway Atoll, scientists found 97.5 percent of chicks swallowed plastic in their stomachs. Then from 500,000 Albatross birds, 200,000 heads died of starvation and dehydration. Sea waste also increases when many sailing boats do not even think about the health of the marine environment.

There were a total of 44,006 incidents of individual animals across 395 species that had eaten plastic bits or been tangled in plastic rope or netting. Around 80 percent of the time, these encounters injured or killed the animal.

There were reports of 138 hawksbill turtles, 73 Kemp's ridley turtles, and 62 leatherback sea turtles tangled in plastic. All three are listed as critically endangered—one step below extinct in the wild—on the IUCN Red List.

According to Greenpeace, more than 30 dead sperm whales were found washed up in the shores of Europe in the first quarter of 2016. Large amounts of plastic waste were found in their stomachs.

Friends , why should we be the reason for all this ?

Please , Stop using Plastic .

I have seen this question on quora many times on my feed and I thought of showing my collection today.

Okay, let's begin.

This Is Deep

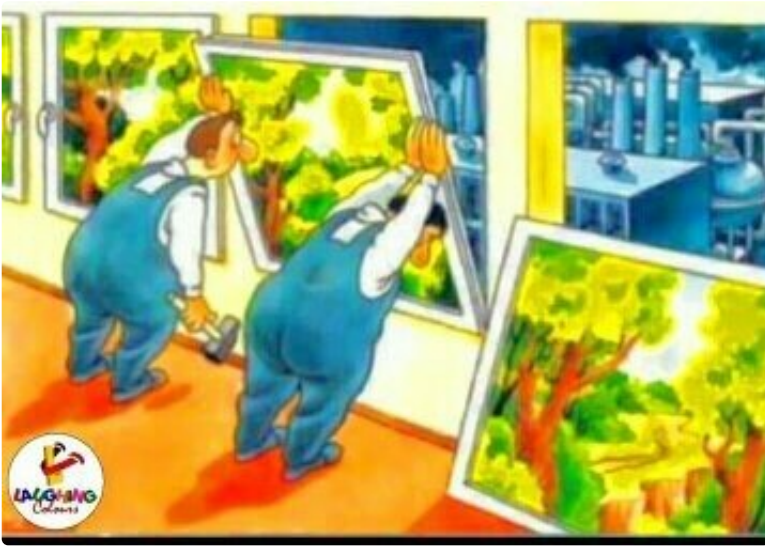

No one is interested in reading books. As they prefer facebook than book.

Deep! 🤔

No one in this world want to see other happy. Nowadays people are jealous of other's happiness.

The earth is not dying. It is being killed by us.

The Silent Protector. We all are sleeping peacefully because our real heroes are there at the border who are fighting with the enemy for our peace.

Oh man... This is deep.

@Sarcastic_Us

@Sarcastic_Us

@Sarcasticlol

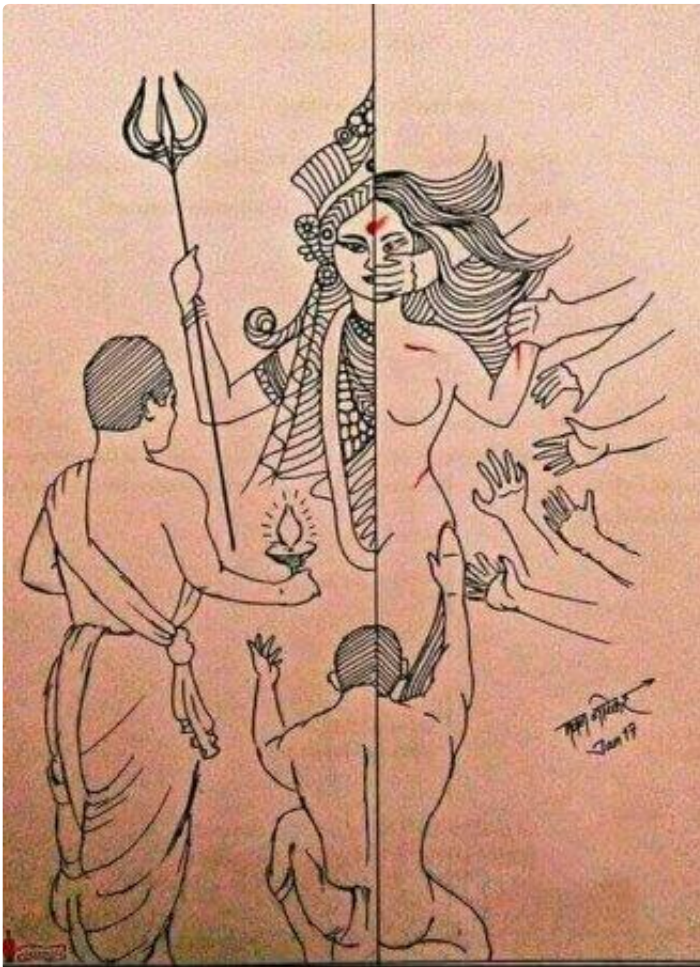

Really, this is very deep. This moment will not be found on play store or any other app store. Childhood has been lost nowadays

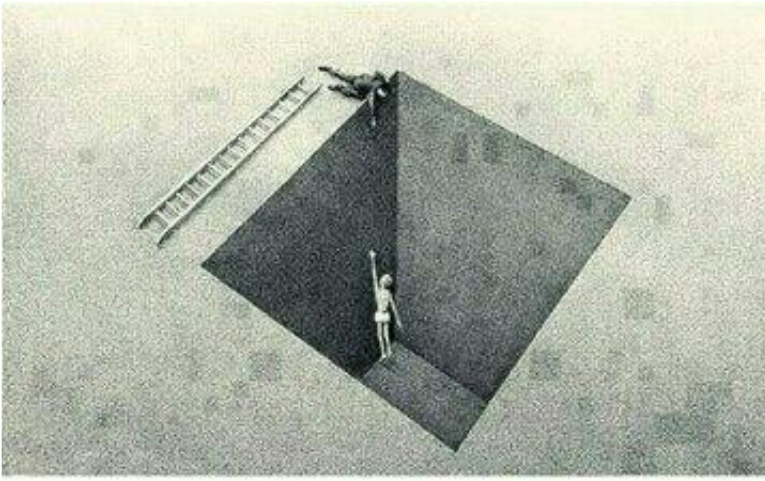

No one is born creative. Everyone needs hard work and patience to be mastered in something.

Be careful of whom you are helping. An enemy is better than a fake friend. At least they don't stab you from back.

Stop eve teasing and harassing women. We are respecting our goddess lakshmi for wealth, goddess saraswati for intelligence who all are women. But on the other hand we are molesting women!

Some people act like they are helping you.

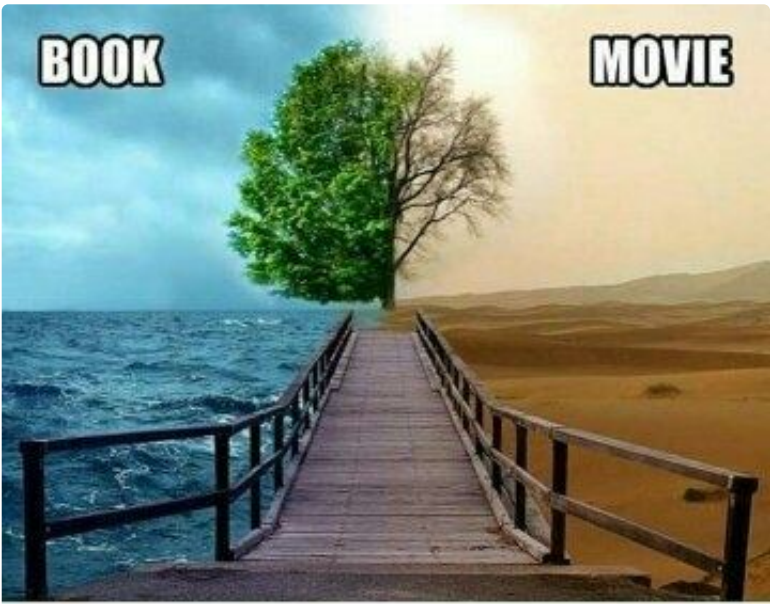

“How are you?”

Broken. Useless. Alone. Clueless.
Confused. Betrayed. Fragile. On the verge of tears. Depressed. Anxious. About to break down. Really give up. Pathetic.
Annoying. I’m just a burden. Distant.
Lonely. Bitter. He thinks I’m lonely.
Rejected. Crushed. I feel like I’m going to just fall apart at any moment. Empty.
Defeated. Never good enough.

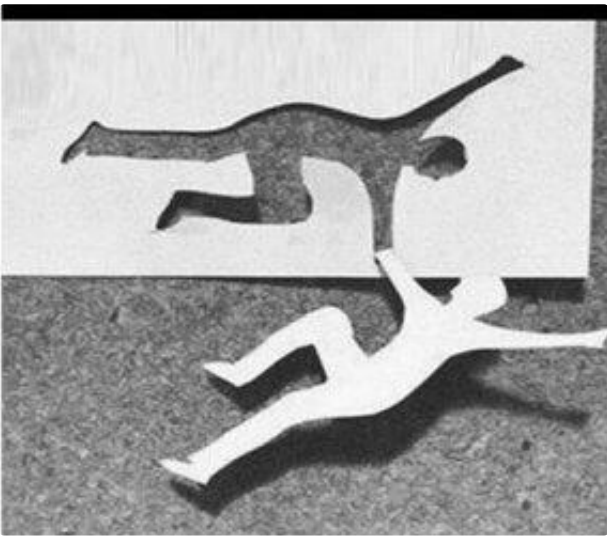

Fine.

Straight answer! No one knows what other people are suffering from.

One decision will make the difference. Few days of hard work and enjoy whole life! Choice is yours.

The only person that can save you...is you!

Take note..give vote!

Never give up.

P.C: Facebook, Instagram and some on quora itself!. Have a nice day!

Everybody think and perceive the same things differently, that's what individuality is all about.

As a normal guy (I think I am normal), here are some pictures and their deep message:-

- What do you think about this one? What message is hidden inside this masterpiece?

what I think is “ This five finger and gloomy eye, depicting the destiny which is controlled by our thoughts and then the forth action. So control your thoughts, it will control your action”.

- The modern world

While we are so busy on social media, but we are ignoring the nearby society and closed one, by getting addicted to it.

- carnation or bullets:-

Superficiality is an art and politician are the best artist, they know how to impress and convince the citizens and after that betraying their trust.

- Cherishing her solitude, taking trains by herself to places she has never been. Sleeping under the stars, learning how to drive a stick shift. Going so far away that she stops being.

We always talk about women empowerment and so far we are doing very good, but still there are many women's, who are molested every seconds, sexual harassment, domestic violence and lot of other pains. This eye shows all the pain and suffering they are going through.

- Child Marriage:-

At the age, where she supposed to play with toys, her life is getting played by the society, in the name of marriage, a golden bar (ring) which promises her to a good and better future, but she doesn't know the actual meaning of future.

- To be or not to be:-

Anxiety the silent killer, which always tends you kill yourself, as anxiety often leads to aimless and we think we don't have any options, we are in trap then our suicidal mind's start calling our self and try to overcome us.

- Broken Heart:-

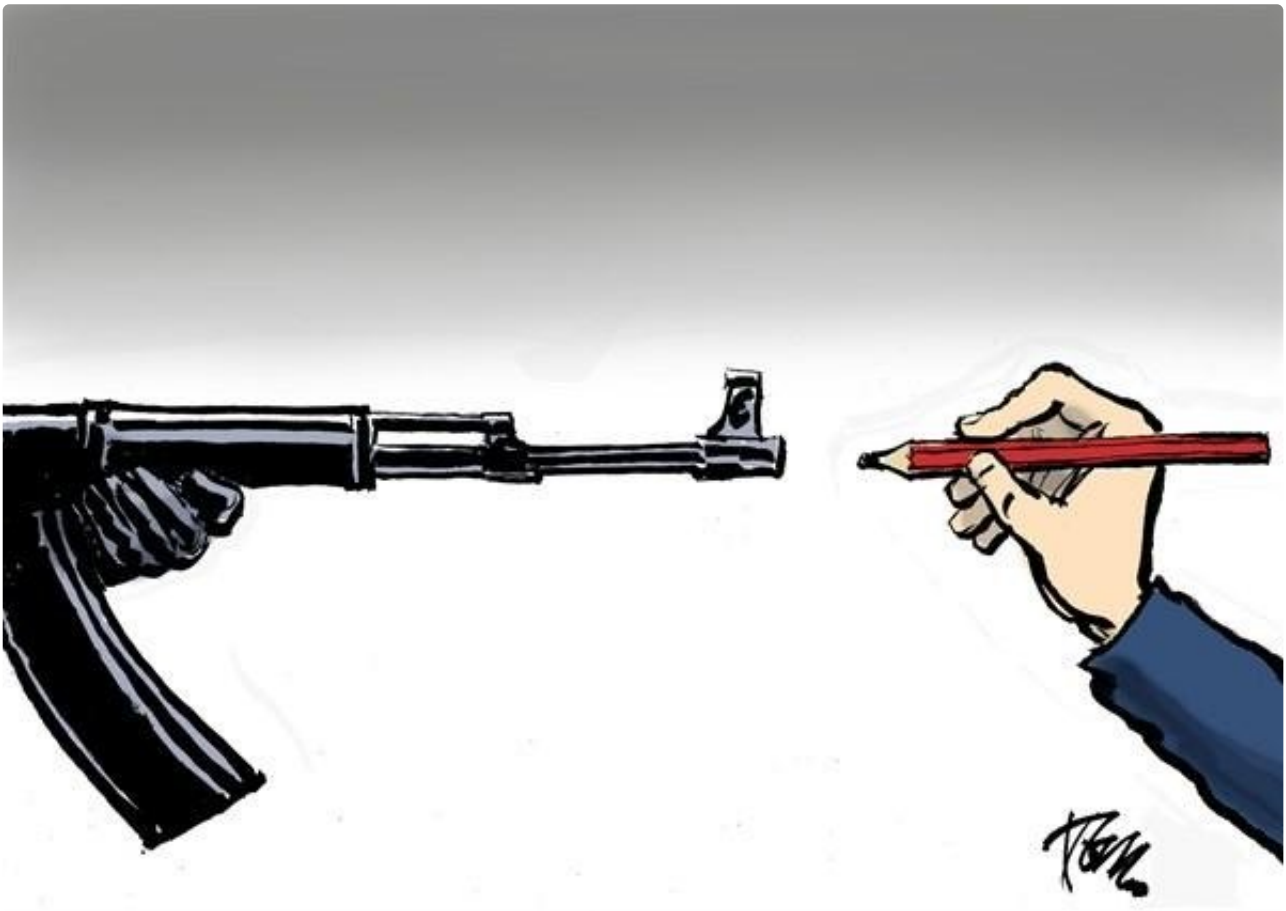

You were in love, together you have spends best days of your life, but what happened now, every time you think about this, a strong wave of emotions get even more stronger in your heart, you think about your past, how happy you were together, this is love, no expectation just memories.

- Save Parks.

We are so busy in making good house, good roads and all the necessity things for us, but we forget the most essential part of life

- The biggest weapon:-

However atom bomb can kill millions, but education saves trillion.

- Build Their future with books and pens, not by bricks:-

Don't build future out of someone's present.

STOP CHILD LABOUR

- Poverty:-

rich people are concern about why they are not getting the profit, whereas poor fellow still wondering about when he will get a bite of bread.

- Racism:-

We always speak about racism, every single guy or girl is against racism. But will you marry a black, you always think of charming prince or princess.

- Smoking Kills:-

You can find millions of smoking kills pics, but it's an addiction, so we ignore and make excuse of it.

- Live like a king. No matter what's going on in your life, believe in yourself.

- Work intelligently not hard. Do your task with intelligence & smartness. Hard work is good but intelligent work is better.

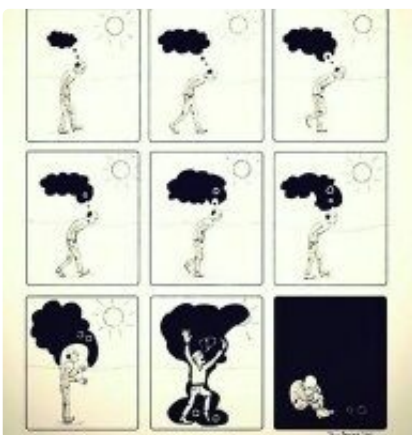

(I think this PIC belongs to someone else's answer, sorry for that.)

- Nothing is impossible in life. It is just our way of thinking towards the work. Even a word impossible says it self "I'M POSSIBLE".

- Overthink is a way of thinking towards the problems that don't even exist. Don't let overthinking leave you in darkness.

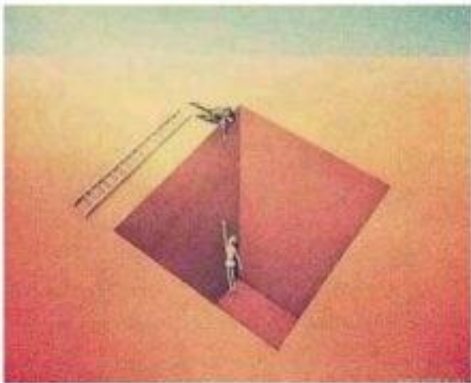

- Be unique and don't feel odd for that. People around you may criticize and bother you. Don't panic for that always feel good that you're not a part of the crowd.

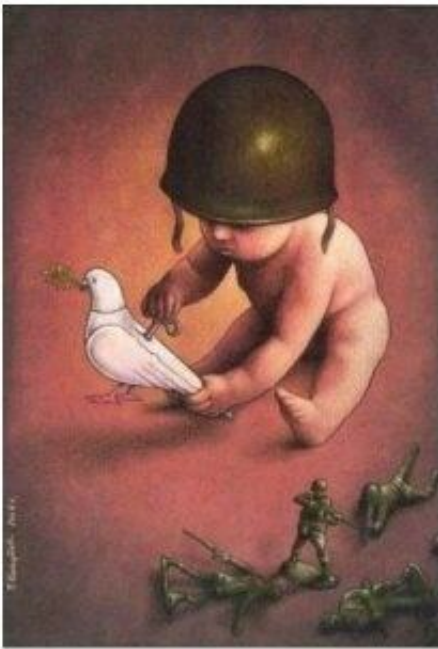

- People always choose the complex path in life and make their life complex. They block the simplest path without knowing that the destination is the same.

- Don't believe in everyone. Some people pretend to be good friends and help you but in reality they aren't.

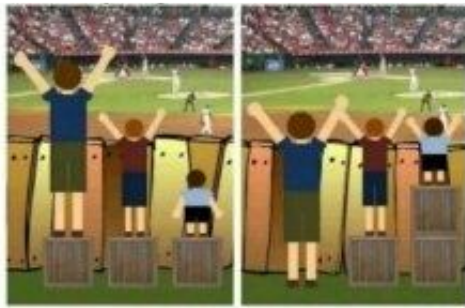

- Always respect an army man. They are the reason for our peace. They are awake all night so that we sleep in peace.

- Equality & justice

Feel the difference between them. Equality doesn't make somebody happy but justice does.

- Environment is important. It has a huge influence on our mind. You should surround yourself with positive people or positive things. It's important for our mind.

P.S :- Above are some good deep meaning pic without text. If there is any grammatical or spelling mistakes in my text then it's my humble request to correct me.

Edit:- 1st time my answer view goes above 2k view keep viewing.

Thanks.

Edit 1:- i saw this photo while scorolling my Facebook

- Its show the innocence of a little child. It's show me the child heart is so pure that they care about everything and have a so much generosity, so much kindness in there heart.

Pictures can really talk and can make us think which sometimes alone words cannot. ..

I have decided to put them under some headings so as to take the attention of the readers in the right direction. An attempt has been made to attach some of the finest pictures which really has something deep in them to covey. Just make an attempt to realise their true meaning...

POLITICAL

The picture need no description. They will catch your attention anyhow.

Poor condition of Farmers which are the reasons why they commit such an act.It's the political dispensation who need to address the issue as soon as possible.

War and peace.

These two are very much related to the current events happening around us.

SOCIAL

We always blame our parents for more and more. But this picture will make you realise the true meaning of parents and the sacrifices they make for their children.

Depleting sex ratio is a major problem India is suffering from. The picture says it all.

This picture has a deep meaning. We must have the courage to withstand any convulsive circumstances in life. Suicides are not the alternatives one can go with despite many odds that may come your way.

Child labour is a curse. When we were kids, our parents might have fulfilled all our desires. But not everyone is fortunate enough...

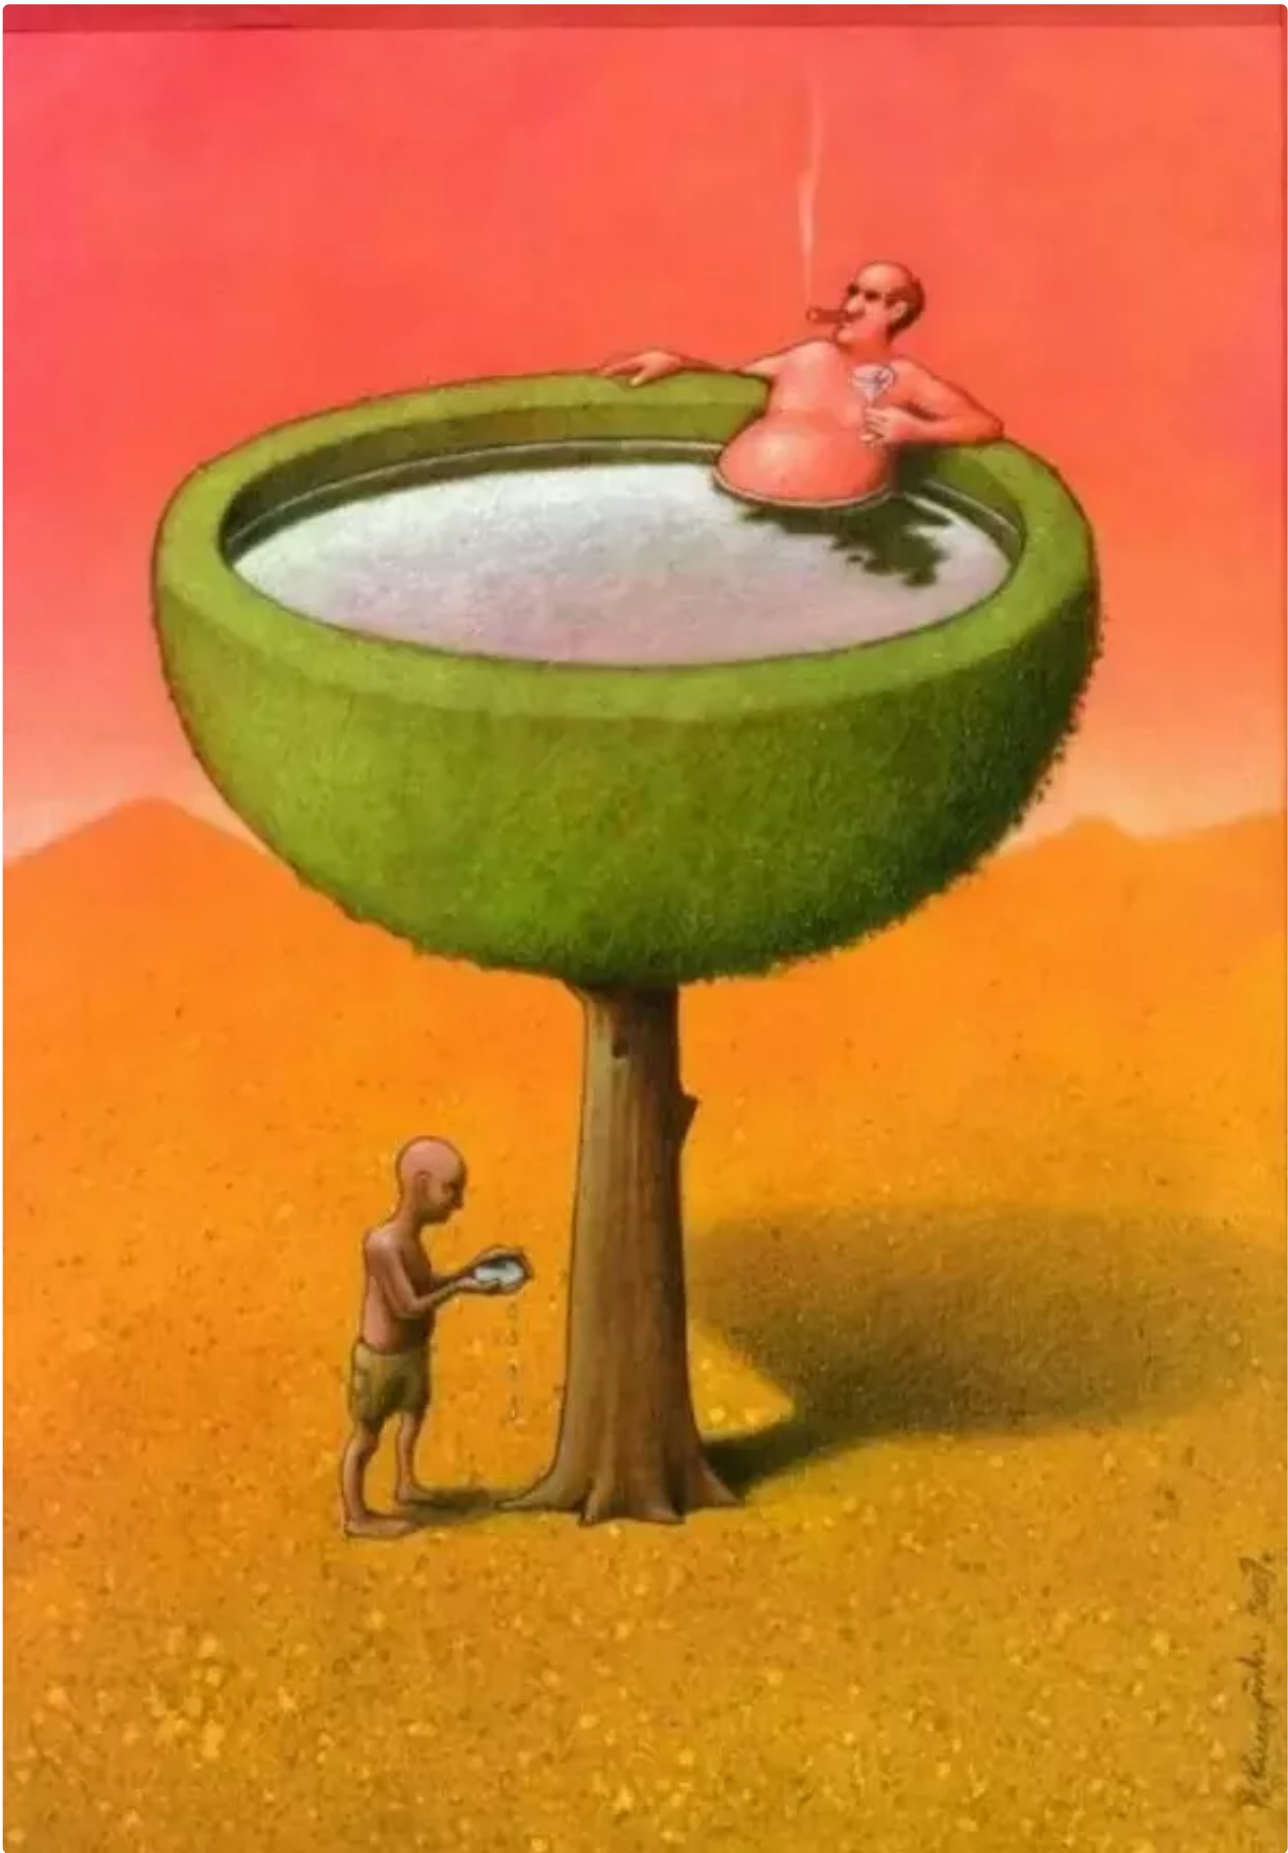

A bit ECONOMICAL

Rich and Poor

(Poverty is really the worst form of violence).

We have grown on to become a hostage of money.

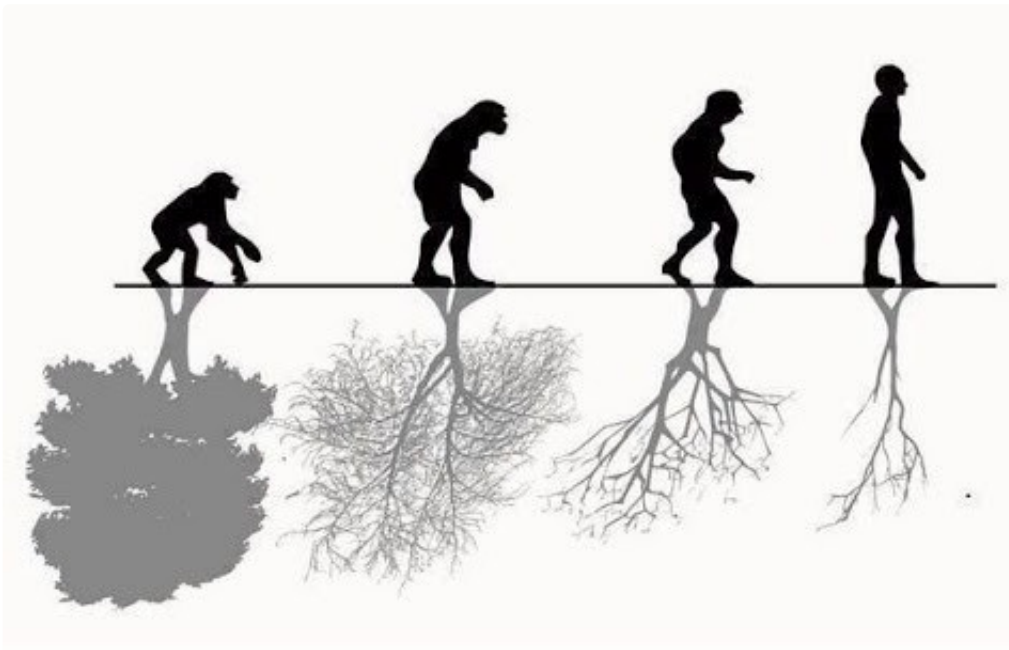

A resemblance to what Gandhi taught us ,but the message here is really deep.

ENVIRONMENTAL

As the humankind advanced, so rapidly they destroyed the environment. The picture has that message. We really need to protect them by all possible means.

Obliteration and then 'reverse - obliteration'.

Global warming..

From traditional to modern...the journey of hunters...

It's believed that 'Pen is mightier than the sword'. Very true. But I feel even pictures have the power to silently spread the message it is made to convey. Different people can interpret it differently. It's sometimes beneficial and sometimes not but it can create an impact for sure.
